Gifted and Talented Mentorship

- An innovative course that serves exceptionally gifted and motivated students through an evening course and placement with a mentor in a particular field of research.
- Students explore complex thought, expand critical thinking, consider novel problem-solving strategies and engage in original research and project development while working alongside a professional mentor.
- Students may apply for this program in their 11th grade year for participation the following year.
- Highly rigorous and competitive application process. Students must have already begun looking into a particular field of research and are able to commit to taking an off period at the end of the, as well as have transportation to drive themselves to the Education Complex for evening classes and to their mentorship site.
